

Logarithmic and Trigonometric Tables

The image shows a page from a mathematical table book, specifically a section for 'Natural Sines'. The table is organized into columns for angles from 0° to 90° in increments of 10 minutes. Each column contains values for sine, cosine, tangent, and cotangent functions. The values are presented in a grid format, with some columns having multiple rows of data. The table is titled 'Natural Sines' at the top and 'Natural Cosines' at the bottom. The text is small and dense, typical of a reference table.
